

BOEING-BOEING by Marc Camoletti

Set in the early 1960s, Boeing-Boeing is a French farce about Parisian playboy Bernard and his three Air Hostess fiancés.

GLORIA. American. Flies for TWA. A practical, no nonsense American woman, no hang ups about sex, knows what she wants.

GRETCHEN. German (with accent). Flies for Lufthansa. Romantic and emotional.

GABRIELLA. Italian (with accent). Flies for Alitalia. Passionate, impulsive, generous, suspicious.

ROBERT. French (with accent). Bernard's friend from the country.

BERNARD. French (with accent). Cheerful playboy.

BERTHA. Scottish (with accent). Used to fly for Caledonian Air, now is long time maid to Bernard.
